Russian letters, dated 22nd July, from Contral Asia, state that railway construction is progressing very rapidly. When General Annenkoff started for Central Asia, his orders were to complete the railway by March next, but he has now received more urgent orders to have the railway opened as far as Samarkand as soon as possible. Thirty days before he received these instructions, the railway was completed to thirty miles from Charjul, and all the earth-work from the Oxus to the capital of Bokhara was finished. To hasten the work, General Annenkoff received a reinforcement of two infantry battalions as working parties. His aide-de-camp, Lieutenant Miloutin, nephew of the ex-War Minister, had started for Ferganah to engage workmen, because the Turkomans and Bokharans will not work from laziness. The whole railroad from Micholsk to Charjui was constructed by Persians from the north and by Caucasians. General Annenkoff was still at Karakul, between the Oxus and Bokhara.

As Mr. James, the Port Officer of Peumban, was lately on a tour of inspection of the Kilakarai Channel, he had occasion to visit some beacons some four or five miles north east of the port of Kilskarai. Walking along the beach, he noticed the whole strand strewed with broken pottery, earthenware, china, &c., and at one place where the sea had encroached, at a depth of four or five feet from the surface of the ground, there appeared what seemed to be the end of a wall. On enquiry be was told that the pottery was from an old town which existed in the time of the Pandyan Kings. The natives stated that coins were often found washed out by the sea, and a quantity were given to Mr. James, which had various devices on them, such as fish, birds, bullocks, and the monkey god Hanuman. These have been forwarded to the Collector of Madura, with a full report of all the information that could be gathered. Mr. James has subsequently had another large number of coins sent to him. some of which are Grecian, Roman, Arab, &c. According to Bishop Caldwell, Kilakarai is the place where Marco Polo first landed in India."

NOW ON SALE. IMPERIAL QUARTO. . . - --NGLISH AND CHINESE, DICTIONARY.

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN

Pronunciation. An Anglo Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service | places:this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years; been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relationshas imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being earefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast comomy of space, achieving a clearness not previously. attained, and dispensing with those vast margins torized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charactters. Again, despite all the grammars and paid less a small discount of about 2d. in the £1, other elementary works as yet published, the for which the remitter should allow. All such student of this difficult language absolutely re- orders must be expressed in British currency. quires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which cording to the currency the order is drawn in.) many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in Chins it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies. LONDON: TRUBNER & Co., 60. PATERNOSTER ROW.
